eToken PASS – Securely Access Your Digital Business Resources Anytime, Anywhere

The Aladdin eToken PASS is a compact and portable one-time password (OTP) token, providing strong user authentication to network resources. Organizations can enable their employees, customers, and partners to securely access data whenever they wish and from wherever they are, using any computer.

eToken PASS supports a variety of security solutions and can be used for strong authentication to both web-based and client-based applications.

Backed by Aladdin eToken's robust OTP Authentication and Token Management System software, eToken PASS is an integrated part of the complete eToken product offering, answering all of your organization's authentication needs.

+ Cover All Your Bases

Establishing secure access to digital resources means enabling business. By securing user access to your data you can provide enhanced online services, increase employee productivity, and increase compliance with security and privacy related regulations.

Today's typical organization has a diverse environment, with different types of users who have different roles and data access needs. A traveling salesperson may need to download the latest company sales materials and price lists while on the road. A business development associate may need to securely communicate electronically with strategic partners. A technical support engineer may need portable storage of software and documentation as well as remote access to the company's CRM system. And a customer may want to do business conveniently and securely online.

eToken lets you cover all your bases with a family of authentication tokens and supporting software, offering various authentication technologies and capabilities in a single, integrated solution for secure access to digital resources anytime, anywhere.

eToken PASS is the perfect complement to eToken's industry-leading USB and hybrid tokens and smart cards, providing you with the flexibility to deploy any mix of eToken devices to best meet your specific business needs, security requirements, and budget.
